FORD IN THE LEAD

The Motor-Millionaire Heads Harding in Collier's Weekly Straw Poll

Henry Ford leads President Harding in the voting conducted by Collier's, the National Weekly. This week's returns have brought the total vote cast to date to 86,000. Of these, Ford received 21,374, and Harding 20,130.

The President led last week, but the Detroit manufacturer took the pole by securing a majority in such Republican states as Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. In Massachusetts, while he did not get a plurality, he came within three votes of it. He received 1273 to Harding's 1275.

Harding is ahead in Connecticut and Rhode Island, and has also taken New York and Minnesota thus far. But Ford has recovered Illinois and has held his advantage in other doubtful states.

SUNDAY'S BIG JOB

New Insulators On High Tension Line Mean Much To Local Power Users.

In Tuesday's issue of The Courier-Gazette appeared a brief account of the work done Sunday by the Central Maine Power Co. in installing modern type insulators on the high tension line between Rockland and Maxcy's. The following story, furnished by one of the company's press representatives, will still be found very interesting.

At just eight minutes of three Sunday afternoon, June 3, the high tension line of Central Maine Power Company which runs from Maxcy's Crossing, two miles north of Cooper's Mills, to Rockland, was "cut in" after being off since 4 a. m. in the morning and another part of the program to furnish the power users of Rockland with perfect service was completed. This entire 30 mile stretch has now been re-insulated with the newest and most modern type insulators which are nearly lightning proof as modern electrical skill can make them.

Company's Forces Unite

In order to accomplish this gigantic task of reinsulating 15 miles in one day it was necessary to muster every available man from the company's large force and to have them on the job at break of day. Consequently nearly 200 men began pouring in from the different districts late Saturday afternoon. About 50 of the men established headquarters just outside of Rockland under Superintendent Blodgett of the Rockland district. The main division, consisting of about 120 men under the direct charge of G. C. Mason, Superintendent of high tension lines, encamped on the Snow farm about two miles from Cooper's Mills in regular army fashion—tents, cots, cook and everything to make the boys as comfortable as possible.

The first truck load of men arrived at camp about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Ten other truck loads followed in close order so that when Chief Painter shouted "A-L-L R-E-A-D-Y" at 5:30 about 120 men clamored for their seats in the mess tent.

Chef Painter's Good Feed

After a long, dusty ride which brought them anywhere from Lewiston, Skowhegan or some of the twelve districts where the company operates, the boys took sweet revenge on the real old fashioned bean supper placed on the table by Chef Painter and his assistants who had been teamed for their part of the big job.

After supper the men were collected together and given their directions to follow out on the next day. A temporary pole was set up and instructions given on the proper way to reinsulate. Safety first hints were also made known to all the men as a precaution against any accidents.

As soon as darkness began to settle down on the line the encampment boys scattered to their various tents to turn in, mindful of the long hard job ahead of them.

The alarm was set for 3:30 a. m. but a neighboring whippoorwill stole a march on the Big Ben and aroused the "light sleepers." By four-thirty a hot breakfast of bacon and eggs, potatoes, coffee, doughnuts had been devoured and the trucks all ready to depart for the field of battle.

Work On Both Ends

When the company did a similar job on this line last fall the 15 miles in the middle of the 30 mile line were finished. This year work started on each end, the one crew beginning at Maxcy's Mills and going as far as West Washington to connect on where last fall's work ended. The other crew started at Rockland and worked to West Rockport thus completing the entire line.

The men were divided into crews and each crew, under a foreman, had a special section to work on. When the men were landed at the base of operation they found everything they needed right on the spot so as to eliminate all possible chance of delays.

This part of the program was looked after by the company's efficient foreman, "Bill" Cobb. A great part of the success of the whole venture depended upon the manner in which all preliminary work had been done.

Every man had been so well instructed as to just what his particular part of the great undertaking was, and so well grounded in the fundamentals of his job that from the time the work began until the last crew reported in from their section, not a hitch nor an accident marred the big undertaking. It took but nine hours to complete the big task and get word from the main station at Fort Halifax that the juice was on and Rockland was once more flooded with ample and better power for almost any emergency.

In order to give the patrons on its car lines adequate service while the car line was without power the company had large touring cars which gave continuous service over all its lines until the car service could be resumed.

What Improvements Mean to Rockland
Although the power users in the Rockland vicinity were handicapped for the greater part of one day this is not commensurate with the better and more continuous service which Rockland customers of the company may expect in the future.

For the past few years Central Maine Power Company has been placed in many embarrassing positions because of the havoc caused by thunder showers along its power lines which feed the Rockland district. Some times this district has been without service for a number of hours while line crews were out patrolling the 30 miles of line to locate trouble.

Now with almost lightning proof insulators on the entire line from Maxcy's Crossing, and with general improvements over the course the company officials believe that they have done much toward giving its power users in Rockland and vicinity perfect service.

MINISTERS ON "SPREE"

North Haven Outing a Jolly Affair—Ecclesiastical Baseball.

Monday the Knox County Ministers' Association held its annual outing at the invitation of the North Haven Baptist church, with pastor M. G. Perry and his people at Pulpit Harbor, North Haven. The day was ideal for the sail, and Capt. Wadsworth of Camden was just as smiling as usual. The party left Camden at 10:20, consisting of Rev. and Mrs. M. S. Howes of South St. George, Rev. and Mrs. Perley Miller of Tenants Harbor, Rev. Roy H. Short, Rev. and Mrs. B. W. Russell and Miss Crandon of Thomaston, Rev. and Mrs. E. V. Allen, Mrs. Annie Hanson, Mrs. H. V. Smith, Rev. W. S. Rounds, Capt. and Mrs. Eric Smith, Rev. and Mrs. O. W. Stuart, Chauncey Stuart and Thomas Hawken, of Rockland, Rev. Andrew Young of Rockport, and Rev. and Mrs. H. I. Holt and Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Griffiths of Camden.

Upon arrival the party went to the church and conducted a service. Rev. H. I. Holt of Camden delivered a splendid address on the topic, "An Autobiographical Portrait of God's Man." The address took the form of a study of Psalm XIX, where God's Man is seen in the first six verses, feasting on God as He is revealed in nature; in the next six verses, as learning from God as He is teaching in the Moral Law or the Scriptures; and in the closing verses, as communing with God in prayer. Mr. Holt objects to the word supernatural, contending that the word natural would assist in explaining all the phenomena connected with nature, the scriptures, and with prayer as arising from the supreme intelligence of the Great Original or First Cause, even God.

Rev. Roy H. Short of Thomaston led the singing of several old hymns. Rev. E. V. Allen read the scripture; Rev. M. S. Howes offered prayer, and Capt. Eric Smith made the closing prayer, and pronounced the benediction. After the service the party retired to the shore, where a picnic dinner of steamed clams, sandwiches, pastries and hot coffee was waiting. Among the winners at this part of the day's sport were Rev. H. I. Holt who from a distance of half a mile smelled the clams 30 minutes before the fire was kindled for steaming them, and Rev. Andrew Young, who although not large of stature has a capacity far in excess of his waistcoat. Among the ladies it was nearly a draw between Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Stuart. The honors belong rightfully to Mrs. Miller on account of her smaller dimensions, and the fact that she sang all the time on the homeward trip.

Cars were waiting after dinner to take the party to the Thoroughfare where opportunity was given to inspect the new church, which is in the process of construction. It is going to be one of the finest structures in these parts when it is completed. When the party returned, the High School pupils were waiting for it and a very exciting ball game was played between the ministers and No. Haven High School.

Of course the ministers are used-to-be in this activity, but in the five innings played they managed to make one score while the boys made 10. Rev. Mr. Griffiths was also hit, and he has a close second in Rev. W. S. Rounds. Rev. E. V. Allen of Rockland made a name for himself at second base picking the flies out of the air, and catching the young North Havenites who were trying to pile up a score. Thomas Hawken cheered on the vanquished ministers to a strong finish with his Texan yell.

The happy company arrived in Camden at 7:10, wind tamed, and weary, but in high spirits. They feel a lasting sense of appreciation to the North Haven friends for their hospitality, to Capt. Wadsworth for his fine equipment and seamanship, and to Heavenly Father for the beautiful day and the wonderful touches of his love as they are seen in nature at this season of the year.

MRS. SARGENT SAYS

That Miss Driscoll "Side-stepped" Her Shorthand Challenge "Very Gracefully."

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

I read Miss Driscoll's refusal to accept my challenge to a shorthand contest, with much interest. She side-stepped the question very gracefully. I have on my desk a copy of the rules which I received last winter; these rules state that the dictation would be at 100 words per minute (not at 90 and 100). But as Gregg is evidently very difficult to read at a high rate of speed the representative of the Gregg Publishing Company slowed down to 92.

This was only one of the unfavorable conditions. I contend that Miss Barter could write as well at 120 as she did at 92 which I doubt the Gregg winner could do.

We are not defeated until we lose a contest conducted satisfactorily to both sides. They have side-stepped the challenge which proves conclusively that they are not in a position to defend their championship. I offered to transport my entrants to the place of the contest. Mrs. Lena K. Sargent.

NO ACCIDENT MONTH

President Wood Tells of the Lime Corporation's Aim For Month of June.

"No Accident Month" is the aim of the Rockland-Rockport Lime Corporation for June. In this connection the Bulletin publishes the following communication from President Wood. To the Editor of the Bulletin:

I recently overheard one of our men working at the kilns tell his fellow worker that the "safety first campaign" was all bunk and I should judge from his conversation that he believes the company's interest in the matter is only for the sake of saving money in the payment of compensation for accidents.

It is very true that the company is interested in reducing this cost, and particularly so because this cost was steadily increasing and the number of accidents was also increasing up to the time we started a regular safety first campaign and employed a safety engineer and a company doctor.

The principal interest of the company, however, is to reduce the number of accidents both for the benefit of the men in the plant and the benefit of the company itself and its general reputation. No amount of money can properly repay an able bodied man for the loss of a leg or a hand, and it is the ambition of the management to make our safety campaign so effective that these things rarely if ever happen, and our plant will gain a reputation for being a good place to work in, a place where people do not get hurt. We will fail to accomplish this purpose as long as we have men working in the plant who hold the views of this man whom I accidentally overheard, and we will never accomplish our purpose until we reach the time when every man in the plant takes an interest in the matter of safety and good working conditions, and realizes that the company needs his individual advice.

We are starting the month of June as a "no accident month," for the purpose of finding out how good a record we can make for ourselves when every employee is interested and helps to prevent accidents. The men who work every day in the plant know best the things which can be corrected, and I hope during the month of June they will commence to tell not only their foreman but Mr. Libby and the officers of the company everything they can think of which could be done to prevent accidents.

G. B. Wood, President.

FESTIVAL PLANS

Director Chapman Has All Of His Artists Booked — "Faust" On Third Night.

Artists for the 27th annual Maine Music Festival have been signed up, and Director William R. Chapman and the officers of the Maine Festival Association are making arrangements for the holding of the festival at Bangor, October 4, 5 and 6, and at Portland, October 8, 9 and 10.

Mme. Sigrid Ginn, mezzo-soprano, will open the festival in Bangor and in Portland. For the second night of the festival Erwin Nyiregyhazi, Hungarian pianist has been engaged.

For "Faust," which will be presented the third night of the festival, Mr. Chapman has obtained the services of Miss Frances Peralta of the Metropolitan Opera Company to sing the role of "Marguerite." Armand Tokaty, also of the Metropolitan will sing "Faust" and Giovanni Martin, who has appeared at several previous festivals, including the 1922 festival, will appear as "Mephistopheles." Mr. Martino will be remembered for his work as "Zuniga" in "Carman" on the closing night last year.

From the San Carlo Opera Company Mr. Chapman has engaged Miss Devora Nadworney, Russian contralto, to sing "Scheherazade" and Tom Williams, baritone, as "Valentine."

The ballet for the opera will come from the Emerson-Mason School of Dancing in Portland, and from Mrs. Rosanna Odiorne's classes in Bangor.

When Verdi's Requiem is sung the quartet will consist of Mrs. John Gramling, soprano, from Miami, Fla.; Miss Nadworney, contralto; Patrick Kelley, Irish tenor of the Sano Carlo Opera Company, and Tom Williams, bass.

The orchestra will be made up of players from the New York Philharmonic and Symphony Societies, and the chorus will, as usual, come from all parts of Maine.

The coal ashes which accumulated in the basement of the federal building during the winter is being removed by Wyman Cushman, with the assistance of Elen Kenney. This is a task of no small dimensions as Uncle Sam heaves about 120 tons of coal into these furnaces, and about 300 barrels of ashes result. Mr. Cushman has had the contract for a number of years.

The Children's Playground apparatus was being put in place yesterday. The young folks are only waiting the word to swoop down on this popular resort.

THE DAISY

Not worlds on worlds in phalanx deep,
Need we to tell that God is here:
The daisy fresh, from winter's sleep,
Tells of His hand in lines as clear.
For who but He who arched the skies,
And pours the day-spring's living flood,
Wondrous alike in all He tries,
Can rear the daisy's purple bud;
Mold its green cup, its wiry stem,
Its fringed border nicely spun,
And cut the gold-embossed gem
That, set in silver, shines within.
And fling it, unrestrained and free,
O'er dell and dale, and desert sod,
That man, where'er he walks, may see
At every step the stamp of God.
—John Mason Good.

Of course Rockland can have More Industries

ROCKLAND has two chances of getting more industries and hence more growth.

The first step—and one which no doubt has already been taken —is for Rockland.

- To make a careful study of cities similarly located in the United States. Find how they take advantage of their resources.
- To make a careful inventory of Rockland's resources and a careful study of how they can be capitalized.

Then Rockland can look for industries from two sources:

- Anywhere in the United States. This is done by advertising.
- Right here in Rockland. The average town that grows, grows not because some big industry locates there—it grows because the people in the city get together, put their brains and capital to work, build up their own industries and BUILD NEW INDUSTRIES FOR THEMSELVES.

After all, the best asset any town has is the brains and the push of its enterprising and progressive men.

Rockland is well endowed with men and money. It will grow very largely as these resources are used by home people for the upbuilding of the city. Central Maine Power Company will unite with Rockland and with any other city it serves in any promising movement to get or to build new industries.

No matter how Rockland grows, a prime requisite is adequate uninterrupted electric service. Rockland and the cities in Knox County served by Central Maine Power Company can have this service provided they stand behind Central Maine Power Company in the financing of Knox County's own power station at Union.

If you are interested in knowing about this power station and the security which will finance it, send the coupon and get the information, free and without obligation.

PURE RELIGION:—Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this. To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world.—James 1:27.

In another column Gov. Percival P. Baxter answers those who criticized his act in causing the State House flag at half staff upon the death of his dog "Garry." Reading the statement one cannot fail to be impressed by the affection which he must have felt for his faithful companion, which, he says "unlike many of my human friends never betrayed nor believed ill of me." The governor expresses doubt if many would have criticized President Harding if he should lower the White House flags in memory of his "Laddie Boy." Probably there never will be any criticism of that sort because President Harding will never furnish the opportunity. With reference to Gov. Baxter it is only charitable to believe that he was actuated by sincere motives and keenest sorrow when he permitted himself to authorize an act which has brought down a storm of criticism wherever it was known. The people of Maine cannot be brought to believe that the same honors of State should be paid to a dog, however faithful or valuable, that are paid when the Governor of a State or President of a Nation passes away. Gov. Baxter has made a mistake which it is kindness to soon forget.

Gov. Baxter hits the nail squarely on the head when he says that the repeal of State Prohibition enforcement in New York will cause "crime and lawlessness throughout the nation to take heart." Many will look upon it as the entering wedge which will destroy national prohibition, and the national result is that other States of "wet" proclivities will witness similar efforts toward repeal. Gov. Baxter says:

The State of Maine will enforce its own temperance laws and will bend every effort to enforce the Federal laws as well. If necessary we can refuse all Federal agents in Maine for duty in New York and our own house will be kept in order without them. I shall call upon every Maine sheriff and police officer to make unusual efforts to keep this State true to its prohibition principles. Governors of States at their Inaugurations take solemn oaths to support both the Constitution of the United States and of their respective States and having done this I am under two sacred obligations. There will be no evasion in Maine.

England is soon to launch a giant underwater craft, which, it is said, will be the most powerful submarine in the world. With her great speed and gun power she will be more than a match for most surface vessels, says a London despatch. And while this is going on the United States is calmly abandoning her ambitious plans for modern type ships which would have put us in the forefront of naval powers.

What a pity that while the State was spending good money for the resurfacing of the tarriva road between Rockland and Rockport that those awful bumps could not have been removed. The pleasure of riding over this fine road is almost completely nullified by the frequency with which these dangerous obstructions are encountered.

Gov. Baxter has nominated William J. Lanigan as a member of the State Highway Commission to succeed William M. Ayer, whose term has expired. Mr. Lanigan is well known in Maine newspaper circles, and will carry to his new job some practical ideas as to what the people of the State really want.

Official denial comes from London that Sir Auckland Geddes is retiring from the position of British ambassador to the United States. A man who has the good judgment to spend his summers at Dark Harbor is not apt to quit such an honored post as the one he occupies without very material reasons.

The country is mourning the loss of Charles F. Pidgin, fiction writer, who died at his home in Melrose, Mass. Monday. Many will not remember the name 10 years hence, but in the libraries there will still be a demand for "Quincy Adams Sawyer" and "Blennerhasset."

A correspondent of the Bath Times asks the pertinent question of who can name the Seven Seas, so often referred to in literature. Of course all of the 72 graduates of Rockland High School can.

THE CONTRACT AWARDED

Work On Belfast's New Schoolhouse To Begin At Once.—The Cost, $143,000.

The contract for Belfast's new schoolhouse has been awarded to Forzione, Romano Co. of South Portland. The building committee organized Saturday night, with Orlando E. Frost, chairman, and Dr. Foster Small as secretary. The contractors will take the old buildings and remove them without expense to the city, and Mayor Frost stated Monday that he expected the work would begin at once.

The bid of Forzione Romano Co. was for $143,000, and that includes the building complete, exclusive of heating, lighting and ventilating. The building is three stories in height, and will contain 19 class rooms. The architects, Kilham, Hopkins & Greeley, of Boston, have changed the first plans considerably to allow for the amount of money decided upon, but it is said that no material needs have been sacrificed.

The Daughters of Veterans held a very interesting meeting at their rooms Monday evening. Ten new members received the obligation.

WENT THIRTEEN INNINGS

Rockland High Wins In Thomaston, and Pitcher Rising
Makes New History With Twenty-Six Strikeouts.

I SAW RICH FEEHAN

at yesterday's great school game in Thomaston, and I saw history repeating itself on the storm-swept diamond, where "Tippy" Feehan, the younger, was pitching a wonderful, if losing game. It is seldom that any family produces two such fine pitchers as this father and son. "Tippy" senior, was not only a brilliant pitcher during his school career, but for a number of years afterward continued to win laurels on numerous baseball fields. I have always found him a square sport on the field or off, and I am always pleased to have his cordial greeting when I go on the field. "Tippy" junior, is writing another glad chapter into Thomaston High's history.

Knox and Lincoln League

Soon after Tuesday's edition had gone to press the sporting editor discovered his error in having said that Thomaston High had won the pennant for a second successive season. The error was quickly corrected, and the correction is very gladly made, because the gallant school is entitled to full credit for its athletic prowess, and because Principal Sturtevant has won a pennant each year that he has been in charge. Nobody in Rockland begrudges the Thomaston team its honestly earned honors, but yesterday's game shows that it was a strategic error, rather than fielding errors, which lost Rockland its chance to fight for first place instead of second. It seems like a glorious opportunity lost. The standing:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Thomaston High	6	2	.750
Rockland High	4	3	.571
Vinalhaven High	3	3	.500
Lincoln Academy	3	3	.500
Camden High	0	5	.000

Rockland 6, Thomaston 4

Yesterday's game in Thomaston will pass into history as one of the most brilliant and sensational High School contests that ever took place on a Knox county diamond. Thirteen innings were required to decide the great pitching duel and Principal Sturtevant hit the nail squarely on the head when he said that it was no disgrace for Thomaston to have lost that game. Pitching records for Knox county, and possibly the State of Maine, were shattered by the frail Rockland twirler, Elmer Rising, who struck out 26 men in the 13 innings and who had 22 strikeouts for the regulation nine innings. Up to the 9th inning he had pitched a no-hit, no-run game. What makes his showing even more wonderful is the fact that he did not give a single base on balls, and made only one wild pitch. He had wonderful speed and bewildering curves, and his sensational pitching must have been a great shock to confident Thomaston fans who had predicted he would not last five innings. Hats off to the new hero in Knox county school athletics!

A close second to him in yesterday's honors stood "Tippy" Feehan, whose brilliant work this season brought to Thomaston High School its third pennant in as many years. He also had plenty on the ball, and the only Rockland players who were really successful in solving it were Stewart and O. Record, each of whom made two clean singles and a triple.

There were other heroes in this great game—Libby, whose single saved Thomaston in the 9th, and who made two classy catches in right field; Webb, who made a splendid catch of Flanagan's foul, and Knight who gave Rising such rugged support behind the bat. The game opened auspiciously for Rockland, when Stewart cracked the ball into right field for a triple, and scored on Flanagan's sacrifice grounder. In the 7th O. Record made a single and stole second and third, but was left there when Knight fanned, and Stone threw Massalin out at first. This was the nearest Rockland came to scoring again until the 9th.

Meantime the Thomaston batters had been dancing whenever Rising pulled the string. The first nine men who faced him were fanned, and in the first four innings he had 12 strikeouts.

In the 9th there were fireworks on both sides of the fence. Stewart fled to Newbert. Clyde Record reached first on Stone's error and stole second. Flanagan hit a foul about half way down the third base line. Webb ran for it, with apparently but little chance of getting under the ball, but a long low reach and he made the catch. Had he not done so the game would have been over in the 9th, for Otho Record followed with a daisy cutter, good for three bases, Feehan took care of Knight.

The score was 2 to 0 when Thomaston went to bat in the last half of the 9th. Stone fanned, but Knight dropped the third strike, and nailed his man at first. Lindsey hit a scorching grounder to C. Record, and the attempt to stop it was a complete failure. Fighting for life, Lindsey stole second, and a passed ball left him on third. Lindsey, and to the enormous delight of the Thomaston fans, for Newbert, who struck out three times in a row, suddenly basted the sphere for two bases.

The score was now 2 to 1 and there was a Thomaston man on second with two down. "Now's the time," quoth Libby, and to the enormous delight of the fans (Thomaston fans to be sure) he laid down the single that brought in the tying score. Feehan fled to O. Record, and the sensational inning was over.

A quartet of Thomaston errors gave Rockland a winning chance in the 10th, but Massalin was nipped at the plate. Thomaston went out in one-two-three order.

The 11th was one of those innings which causes gray hairs to appear where black ones used to grow—or even red ones. With two men down Feehan faltered, even as Rising had faltered in the 9th, and issued two passes—the only ones given in the entire game. A wild throw to the plate by Hall, an error by Risteen and a single by Knight gave Rockland two runs. Thomaston's spirit sank to 40 below zero, but did not remain there long, for Lindsey's single, two stolen bases, and errors by Stewart and O. Record brought the score once more to a tie.

The demonstration at this varying fortunes beggars description. Five hundred ordinarily sane persons had become frenzied fans.

Rockland scored twice in the 13th the winning run being made on Newbert's error at first. Singles by Stewart and Flanagan were contributing factors. The score:

FULLER-COBB-DAVIS

Roland Gamache is now selling the American Six car for the Stevens Garage.

Friday evening Golden Rod Chapter, O. E. S. entertains Wivarna Chapter of Waldoboro, Beach Chapter of Lincolnville, Ivy Chapter of Warren and Lake View Chapter of Jefferson. Supper will be served at 6.30 sharp. Mrs. Florence Philbrook, chairman. All members not solicited will please take sweet food.

The officers of the 305th Company C, A. C. and selected "non coms" go next Monday to Fort Williams where they put in an intensive week at an artillery school. The schedule doesn't seem to provide much opportunity for surf bathing or attending motion pictures, according to Captain Ralph W. Brown.

Jimmy Purcell, the popular "goal tend" of the Rockland polo team last winter, had hoped to be in Rockland this summer, and had practically arranged for employment, but in a recent letter to a friend here writes that his mother recently suffered a shock, and that he is obliged to remain at his home in Providence. He sends regards to the polo fans.

The problem of what to do about a public parking place appears to have been happily solved by the City Government which has voted to use its property running from Tillson avenue to Winter street for that purpose. The lots were formerly owned by Bird & Coakley and the late Stephen Kavanaugh, and will furnish ample parking space for about 300 cars when the two old buildings formerly used by Herman Hall as a blacksmith shop and E. C. Jones as a stable are removed. The lots can be approached from both streets, and are to be brilliantly lighted. Truck teams also have a stand there.

The annual meeting of the First Universalist Society in Rockland takes place Monday, June 11, in the church vestry at 7.30 p. m. The usual free parish supper will be served at 6.30. Anyone not solicited may bring cake.

The Hall blacksmith shop has been removed from the city's lot on Tillson avenue and the entire space made use of for parking. It is estimated that over 100 cars can be parked there conveniently. The Moody lot on Park street is being graded and the city has installed proper lights. This will accommodate some 50 cars on the eastern and southern sides of the station. Mayor Brown hopes that some space may be available for parking on the Limerock street side of the Children's Playground.

Yesterday was moving day with the J. W. A. Clear Co. which was transferring its commercial lares and penates from the Salvation Army building on Main street, into the new block on Tillson avenue built by George M. Simmons for the joint occupancy of the cigar company and Louis Rosenbloom's candy manufactory. The eastern half of the J. W. A. Clear Co.'s new quarters contains, in the order named the office, toilet, humidifier, and drying room, the west side being used as a packing room. The walls and ceilings are handsomely tinted and the shop has the best light that many windows on three sides can afford. The display windows are especially attractive. The concern derives much satisfaction from the cemented basement, commodious high posted and well lighted. The opening will take place the last of the week, and those who drop in to congratulate the proprietors, will find that the new quarters have not been over-pressed.

RED HOT DISCUSSION

On Traffic and Law Enforcement At Business Men's Luncheon — Merchants' Day.

It has always been held as woman's sole privilege to change her mind but the men at the Chamber of Commerce lunch did just that thing yesterday noon at the Copper Kettle. After dinner it was voted to discontinue the lunches until fall, due to pressure of summer business. The parking and traffic question started such a hot discussion later that this decision was reversed and a luncheon will be held at 12.15 next Wednesday.

President William D. Talbot presided and brought up several matters for discussion, among them the coming Merchants' Day and the Community Chautauqua. Some little interest developed in the former subject and the question of the advisability of changing the date of the closing was canvassed. President Talbot and A. W. Gregory urged the support of the Chautauqua and Mayor Brown explained the parking question as solved to date. The question of enforcement of traffic laws was vigorously handled. "The City Marshal has been instructed to enforce the law impartially and I told him to arrest me if he caught me speeding on Main street" said His Honor. The discussion next Wednesday is looked forward to with keen interest.

CLAY-WOTTON

Harry W. Clay of Bangor and Miss Idamae Wotton of this city were married at 9 o'clock this morning by Rev. John M. Ratcliff of the Universalist church. They were attended by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wotton, and the arrangements had been so quickly made that others did not know of the event until later. In fact this notice will be the first intimation to a great majority of the couple's friends. Mr. Clay and bride left at once on a honeymoon trip to the White Mountains and beyond, returning from which they will make their home in Bangor.

Mr. Clay is the son of Rev. Frederick M. Clay, a Baptist clergyman residing in Bishop, Calif., and traveling salesman who deals with large institutions. The bride graduated from Rockland High School in 1915 and has been employed as stenographer by local concern. She has been especially prominent in the younger social set, her presence eagerly sought at the Bowdoin college house parties.

A large body of uniformed men will descend upon this city next Tuesday night. Don't wait until they ask you to surrender; hand them the keys to the city before they have a chance. The invaders will be Patriarchs Militant, which, as many readers already know, represent the uniform branch of Odd Fellowship. The Maine Department is having its annual field day here next Wednesday, the event being preceded on Tuesday night by the meeting of the Department Council. The first session will be held at 4 o'clock, and the second at 7.30, the recess being devoted to a complimentary banquet served by Canton Lafayette, the local branch of the Patriarchs Militant. The parade Wednesday forenoon will form in Postoffice square at 10 o'clock, and will be followed by dinner, served by the Daughters of Rebekah and American Legion served in their respective halls. Electric cars will then take the Patriarchs to Oakland Park, where the competitive drill, ball games and other sports will be held. The big day will close with a drill and ball in the Oakland Park dancing pavilion. The Rockland, Vinalhaven and Gardiner bands have been engaged for the day, and there may be others in the parade. Luke S. Davis is chairman of the local committee of arrangements.

WITH THE FARMERS

What Thrifty Workers of Knox and Lincoln Counties Are Doing.

Work Shows Progress

A definite program for each community was drawn up at the planning meetings in January. Some of the work has been completed, some started and there is still a large amount to be done in the next few months.

The poultry men have realized that it pays to cull the flock several times during the year and this has become a common practice. Incubators and brooders are being used. The poultry men who have their flocks tested for white diarrhoea, have lost very few chicks this spring. Trap nesting is also becoming quite common. The four poultry men who have trap nested part of their birds this year are so well satisfied that they are going to trap nest their whole flock next year and there are several others that are going to start in with their pullets this fall. From the 25 poultry accounts which were kept in the county this past year, the average egg production was 126 eggs per bird. It is hoped that through trap nesting the production may be increased. It is not the number of hens a man keeps but the production per hen that shows the profits.

Among the orchardists, increased pruning is being done. In the pruning campaign 153 men enlisted with over 25,000 trees. Already reports received show that 65 men owning 19,931 trees have pruned 11,783 of them—an increase of 2,105 trees over 1922. A number of reports are expected within the next few weeks. More spraying is also being done, which means better fruit; also a large amount of nitrate is being applied to the trees.

Interest is also being shown among the dairymen in herd improvement. At the testing circle meetings held the past month, many of the men desired to start a cow testing association and plans have been started for same. Through an association of this kind the poor producers are weeded out and the herd will show a greater profit.

All of these things point to a better and more profitable agriculture in Knox-Lincoln county.

Boys' and Girls' Clubs

Many of the boys and girls in Knox-Lincoln County are taking advantage of the opportunities offered through the club work which is being conducted by the Extension Service and Farm Bureau co-operating.

Not only are they being taught the elementary principles of agriculture and home economics but are learning co-operation and leadership, both of which are going to be a great help to them in the coming years.

The girls enrollment shows an increase of 22 members over last year. A large percent of the girls are taking up sewing. The boys have also shown an increase of 12 over the previous year. The following gives the community, kind of club, its enrollment and the leader.

Camden, 6 boys, N. B. Hopkins.
 Camden, 7 girls, Mrs. W. P. Young.
 Friendship, 10 boys, Abner Wotton.
 Friendship, 11 girls, Mrs. W. H. Hahn.
 South Thomaston, 12 girls, Mrs. Bernice Sleeper.

South Union, 10 girls, Mrs. E. L. Campbell.

Union, 14 girls, Mrs. Mabel Grinnell.
 Warren, 11 girls, Juniors, Mrs. Carrie Smith.

Warren, 5 girls, seniors, Mrs. Carrie Smith.

Waldoboro, 9 boys, C. N. Light.

The Home Demonstration Department announces this schedule of meetings for June:

June 12, Union. Cookers, in-between meeting.
 June 14, Camden. Food, account books.
 June 14, South Thomaston. Cookers, in-between meeting.

June 15, Friendship. Food.
 June 16, Friendship. Girls' club meeting.

June 21, East Warren. Cookers.
 June 21, East Union. Cookers.
 June 22, Rockland. Petticoats.
 June 27, West Rockport. Petticoats.
 June 29, Warren. Executive Committee meeting.

Club Girls Make Hats

Mrs. Jean Morgan of South Thomaston helped the girls in the sewing club make hats for themselves. The secretary explained that the girls did their own cutting and sewing, however, and the practice was excellent. These hats may be considered as a regular problem, since they come under the heading "outside garment." Some of the hats were made from suit linings and trimmed with long and short stitches of silk thread. There was one cretonne hat and a picture hat of organdie.

Camden Girls' Bureau Scarfs

When the Home Demonstration visited the Camden club on May 15, she had a chance to see the attractive scarfs the girls had made. The embroidery stitches used for decoration were different in each case and the different colored silk thread was very pretty with the lined scarfs.

Cookers Made in Rockland

At an in-between meeting at Pleasant Valley Grange Hall eighteen women made fireless cookers for the following people: Mrs. Willis Snow, Mrs. Susie Smith, Mrs. P. T. Morse, Mrs. Sidney Brown, Mrs. Judson Levensaler and Mrs. Ellsworth Fossett. Four of the cookers cost only 75¢ apiece and the others, $2.35 apiece. Mrs. P. T. Morse, who had seen a fireless cooker demonstration at Oakland Park, and Mrs. Willis Snow, who had studied a fireless cooker bulletin, were in charge of the meeting.

Grape Keg for Cooker

Mrs. R. C. Wentworth of Warren used a keg for the outside container and round cork for the packing material. Mrs. Peter Starrett and Miss M. Kallio helped her make the cooker. Cookers have also been made during May in Camden East Union and North Edgcomb, at an average cost of $3.

Club Work Practical

Marjorie Spear of Warren reports that on May 7 there were 13 members present and that the girls spent the afternoon darning and patching. These girls will certainly be good helpers at home.

Despatches in the theatrical papers indicate that the case against Alfred S. Black, formerly of Rockland, who was indicted as the result of a fatal fire in the Rialto theatre, New Haven, more than a year ago, is likely to be dropped. Mr. Black was president and treasurer of the Connecticut Theatres Corporation, controlling the theatre that burned, and so was among three officials indicted by the grand jury.

OUR GRANGE CORNER

Knox Pomona Grange was royally entertained last Saturday by Ocean View Grange at Martinsville. Ocean View was ready to entertain on the arrival of the Patrons, and the man who made that delicious chowder was already at work when the guests reached the hall. The entertaining Grange served dinner to about 200 as hungry members as could well be found, for some of them had driven better than 60 miles, and a ride in that refreshing breeze would sharpen anyone's appetite. The degree was conferred in the morning on 12 candidates. After the noon hour, Pomona was called to order for work in the fifth degree, and the lecturer presented a first-class program. The address by the State Master, W. J. Thompson, was much enjoyed and many questions and answers were given. Mrs. Thompson spoke at length, as did the Worthy Master of South China Grange and his wife.

The State Master is working with the county lecturer, Mrs. Warren Gardner, and they plan to have speakers of note at the field meeting at Pleasant Valley Grange hall August 18. There will be many interesting numbers on that program, and everybody ought to keep open date for the big day of the year.

STILL "FOOLING" WITH 'EM.

H. L. Turner of West Washington Getting Two Good Trotters in Working Form.

H. L. Turner of West Washington, is still "fooling" with the trotters and may be paid well for his time if either of the two he has at present should get in good racing form. Turner raced Camden Boy, 2:18½, in 1900, and got the money at Rochester, N. H., that year, won some other races and he was second at Saugus to the roan, Jay Bird, gelding Vulcan, taking two heats, Camden Boy was by Veni Vici, 2:21¼, out of Alpharetta by Gideon, second dam, Greyling by Tom Benton.

Alpharetta was a full sister to Ezra L. 2:21, and that calls up memories of Tom McLean, who raced that horse. Ezra L. was a grand circuit colt as the "Raging Grand" was constituted in those days, way back in 1883. He was bred by Benjamin Simpson of Bangor, but will be recalled as owned by Ezra L. Stevens. Got her record at Hartford, Conn.

Mr. Turner has The Patriot (2) 2:54¾, a horse that should do some thing. Thomas W. Murphy gave him his present "tab" as a precautionary measure and may be the precaution was well taken. He is by The Harvester, 2:01, out of Belvasia, 2:06¾, by Bingara. The other horse is Dodge by Aquilin, 2:19¾.

More Cars Shake Themselves to Pieces Than Ever Wear Out

Charge that up to vibration.

Vibration causes cars to grow old prematurely by racking their chassis, destroying the "metal life" of vital parts, loosening up their bodies and causing squeaks and rattles. Frequent, costly repairs are the result.

The Studebaker Light-Six is free from vibration than any car of its approximate size or weight yet produced.

This has been accomplished largely by a complete machining of the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces—a practice used by Studebaker exclusively on cars at this price and found only on a very few other cars whose selling prices are from three to ten times as high as the Light-Six.

There are 61 precision operations in the manufacture of the crankshaft alone, 40 of which range in accuracy from one-quarter thousandth to one thousandth of an inch.

The Light-Six motor embodies the most advanced design known to automobile construction. And no chassis at any price is built to more exacting standards of materials and workmanship.

Aside from its mechanical excellence and its consequent long life, the Light-Six is handsome in design, extremely comfortable, sturdy, and we believe the most economical car to buy and operate ever offered at $975 or anywhere near this figure.

Its substantial all-steel body, one-piece, rain-proof windshield, ten-inch cushions upholstered in genuine leather, cowl lamps—these are among many features heretofore to be had only in higher-priced cars.

For 71 years the name Studebaker has stood for integrity, quality and value.

The VETERAN MOTORIST gives a few rules of the road

"On approaching an intersecting highway, corner or curve, where his view is obstructed, the driver of a motor-vehicle shall sound his horn and slow up enough to enable him to stop readily if necessary."

(The Veteran Motorist)

ONE afternoon last summer, I was looking out of a store window on the Post Road. A heavily loaded truck happened to be coming along. Maybe a hundred and fifty yards or so up a side street, a low-hung touring car pulled out of a yard and the driver hit it up for the Post Road as though he had to make a train in thirty seconds. Matter of fact, he was just taking 'the sweetest, dearest, etc.' out for an afternoon spin.

"The truck and sport car got to the corner at the same time. No horns, no slowing up. Then a last minute struggle to avoid colliding. I think one of them must have had a horse-shoe under his seat, for it was just about as close as I'd ever seen, or want to. As it was, one of the steering knuckles on the car was snapped in the shuffle.

"Not a reason under the sun for it, just plain carelessness. And that's what causes three-fourths of all motoring accidents today. Take it from me, it pays to stick to the rules of the road nowadays—all of them—all the time."

Mrs. Clara Millay of New York City is the guest of F. C. Millay and daughter, Mrs. R. D. Burns. Union people will recall when the Millays came to Union years ago and dwelled in the Dunton house, next below the Congregational church and later still in the house now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Vincent. At that time the daughter, Edna St. Vincent, was a tiny tot and started her education at the school on the Common. Her sister, now Mrs. Charles Ellis of New York, and Kathleen, Mrs. Howard J. Young, also of New York, were born here. Millay will recall the musical talents of these three little folk and are glad to learn of Mrs. Edna St. Vincent Millay winning the $1,000 Pulitzer prize for the best verse of 1922.

Mrs. Millay will have a cottage in Camden this summer and very probably all three daughters will be down.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pierce and grandmother, Mrs. Elmer Messer, went to Hebron Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Colby Post, who are employed at Hebron Sanatorium.

Mrs. Lela Nutt died last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Light. Mrs. Nutt had been in failing health for some months, but was able to be about the house most of the time and her death came as a shock to her many friends. She was a beautiful Christian woman, deeply beloved by everybody and will be sadly missed, not only in her home but in many homes where "Grammie Nutt" (as she was lovingly called by old and young), was known for the many acts of kindness in sickness and death. The sympathy of all goes out to the bereaved daughter, Mrs. Light. Funeral services were held Saturday and the remains were taken to Seabrook for burial.

At the Congregational church Sunday morning a union service will be held. The pastor will preach the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of the High School. Subject: "The Conditions on which the Crown of Life Won." The public is cordially invited. Service at 10:30.

On Friday evening the union prayer meeting will be held in the Congregational church at 7:30. At these services on the alternate Fridays the pastor plans to give a series of talks and Bible readings on "The Holy Spirit." It is hoped that the members of both the churches and all other interested friends will come to these services and study together on this vitally important subject.

Mrs. E. S. Uford and Mr. and Mrs. James Griffin visited Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Luce in Thomaston Sunday.

Much sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. William Daniels in the loss of their little son Elmer who died very suddenly June 4.

Rev. Bessie Crowell has returned from Baltimore and occupied her parish Sunday.

H. L. Baker, Clarence Hatch and Mrs. Bertha Simmons called on friends in Camden and Lincolnville Beach and took a motor boat trip to Islesboro Sunday.

Elmer Cummings visited his home at South Paris Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. E. S. Uford preached at the community church, Appleton, Sunday.

A reunion worthy of mention was held in this place on Memorial Day, when four of the daughters of the late and young Curtis Dunton met at the home of Mrs. Ellen Burdett. They are Mrs. Olive Simmons, aged 92; Mrs. Ellen Burdett, 84; Mrs. Lucy Burton, 82; and Mrs. Reta Hawes, 73. Another sister, Mrs. Sophia Welt of Rockland, was not able to be present. On Friday, Fred E. Burdett took the sisters to Marr's Hill to visit their childhood's home where they wandered around viewing the old scenes, counting and recounting the joys and sorrows which had come into each life since they last met. Sister Reta married Henry Hawes of this place and they went to Oakland, Calif., 44 years ago. This is Mrs. Hawes' first visit East and she is perfectly delighted to be once more among her dear ones and enjoy the beautiful scenery of her native state. Mrs. Mary E. widow of Charles Dunton and daughters of Bangor were also guests of Mrs. Burdett.

GOV. BAXTER'S DOG

Lowering of Flag Fitting Tribute To Noble Creature His Excellency Tells Critics.

Governor Percival P. Baxter of Maine answers those who objected to his half-masting the flag at the State Capitol, Augusta, upon the death of his faithful Irish setter dog, "Garry" in the following communication:

"I yield to no one in my respect and reverence for our flag. It flies over us all, grown-ups and children, civilian and soldier, rich and poor, and none have rights in it not possessed by all. Our flag recognizes no distinction of race, creed, occupation, or station, and every living creature that serves man is entitled to its protection. Its spirit is all embracing.

"Loyalty and unselfishness are the crowning virtues, and where can these be found in purer form than in man's best friend, the dog? He never falters in his devotion; never questions nor complains. Hunger, thirst and privation to him are nothing if he can share them with his master, and comfort him in his distress. A dog asks no reward other than to be in the presence and confidence of his human companions.

"The loyalty and unselfishness of a dog, well may put most men to shame, for few are as loyal to their Heavenly Master as is the humble dog to his earthly one. My faithful dog, unlike many of my human friends, never betrayed nor believed ill of me. In all his life he never was mean or dishonorable; can this be said of many humans? If all men would acquire the outstanding virtues of the dog, great happiness soon would be spread broadcast over this sordid world.

"My 'Garry' was a part of my life, for my dogs constitute my immediate family. Moreover he was recognized as a member of my 'State House Family' as much as any of us who work beneath the dome of the Capitol. There was no reflection upon human kind, nor was any desecration done, by the lowering of our flag for a few short hours while I bore my trusted companion to his last resting place. After it was all over and a chapter of my life closed, I issued orders to raise the flag to its accustomed place.

"Our flag pre-eminently is the emblem of peace rather than the battle-flag of war; for peace is eternal and is more noble than war. Its record in war is inspiring, but its record in peace equals, if it surpasses it. It has protected the weak from the strong; it has stood for justice among nations; and it is our flag that ultimately will bring peace to the world. Our flag is the standard of the civilian equally as it is of the soldier, both of whom have endured sufferings and made sacrifices that it may fly freely in the breeze. It symbolizes the virtues of peace, as it does the heroisms of war. The civilian has the same claims upon it as has the warrior, and the humblest citizen shares its glory equally with the proudest general.

"Dogs have played their part in peace and in war. From the earliest ages they have been man's protectors and friends. History records that in recent conflict, dogs saved countless lives, performed many acts of bravery and devotion, and in their death were fittingly honored by their human companions. Unlike men, however, dogs always are loyal and unselfish, and daily they perform acts of service and heroism that add new laurels to their fame.

"The fair names of our State and Nation have not been tarnished because their flags were placed at half-mast out of respect to one of God's humble, but noble, creatures. A fitting tribute has been paid to my dog and to the dogs of ages past, a tribute well deserved but long deferred.

"I doubt if many would criticize our President should he order the White House flags lowered in memory of his 'Laddie Boy'; nor do I believe many will take exception to the Governor of Maine's doing likewise for his faithful companion 'Garry'. I seek to offend the feelings of none, but I yield to none my right to act according to the dictates of my heart.

"It was my desire and my plan to have the flags lowered during the period of 'Garry's' journey homeward to the graves of his ancestors at my Island home. This desire was fulfilled and this plan executed. It may be that the comments made upon my action will arouse our people to a new realization of their responsibilities to dumb animals; if this be so one of my purposes will have been accomplished.

"I firmly believe that when the men and women of this State and Nation think through what I have done they will see that a lesson in the appreciation of dumb animals has been taught and that my act heightens the significance of our flag as an emblem of human achievement; that has been made possible largely through the faithful services and sacrifices of dumb animals.

"I should esteem it an honor, when my times come, to have the same Capitol flags that were lowered for my dog lowered for me. It is my prayer that I always may be as unselfish, and as loyal to my Master, State and Nation, as was 'Garry' to me."

PARK THEATRE

Thomas Meighan has done himself proud and added new laurels to his screen ability in "The Ne'er-Do-Well." Rex Beach's great story that has its last showing at the Park today. And with beautiful Lila Lee as the cause of his regeneration, one gaze at her would be enough to cause any man to make good. A comedy and Aesop's Fables completes the splendid showing.

Friday and Saturday, Jackie Coogan, "The Million Dollar Kid," comes in his happy joy from the what is called "Trouble." The companion feature, that is a splendid entertainment within itself, is Anita Stewart in "A Question of Honor." A Fox comedy completes the big entertainment that is offered at Park regular prices.

Monday and Tuesday D. W. Griffith's "Way Down East" will be presented at regular prices. Of course most everybody will want to see this grand old classic of New England again.—adv.

STRAND THEATRE

"Every Man's Price" starring Grace Darling is today's feature.

Unlike most of the society dramas of today, this production is free from the usual martial entanglements or eternal triangle situations. The story, however, overflows with tense drama and a powerful love interest predominates throughout. The theme is one that is entirely different from any ever before offered, and undoubtedly, will create a lively discussion among both the men and women folks in every community. "Every Man's Price" is truly a big production and the star, Grace Darling, as the daughter of the man, who has sworn to ruin her sweetheart, gives to the screen in this picture the very best work of her entire career.

George Eliot's greatest story, "Silas Marner," has been pictured in six reels and will be shown Friday and Saturday. An introductory title in the film says, "It is in deference to public intelligence that this photographic edition of 'Silas Marner' save for minor rearrangement that time limitation of the theatre exacts, has been faithfully pictured as it is written." This, indeed, should be great news to the many who have despaired when they have seen their favorite stories distorted beyond all recognition in order to make a photoplay, as well as to those who have read and studied George Eliot's story and love it. As conceived by George Eliot, "Silas Marner" has everything that goes to make good motion picture entertainment. It is a gripping, poignant, exquisitely tender human interest story of red-blooded homey folks. There is a blending of love, tragedy, mystery, cruel, deception

EMPIRE THEATRE

The popular Empire offers a big family program today with Viola Dana in a merry comedy "Noise in Newbury," and she certainly does make a lot of noise—and trouble too. But it's all in fun and meant for a hearty laugh of which there are plenty as the picture unfolds itself on the screen. The companion feature is "The Midnight Guest," a thrilling crook story from the pen of Rupert Julian. A Harold Lloyd comedy completes the program.

Tomorrow and Saturday everybody's favorite Hoot Gibson in a lively western that makes for good entertainment will be the feature attraction. "Single Handed" is its name and the way "Hoot" handles them single-handed makes plenty of thrills and roughs it up in an entertaining way. The companion feature is "The Truth About Husbands," and if it tells everything as the title suggests, it will make mighty interesting movie material. A large all-star cast is in the picture and Empire patrons may rest assured of a pleasing bit of amusement with these two splendid features on the same program. Chapter ten of "Around the World in 18 Days" takes another jump across country and it looks as if the hero would make the trip in the allotted time and win the wager.—adv.

In Social Circles

The arrival and departure of guests during the vacation season is of interest both to them and their friends. We are glad to print such items of social news and will thank our friends to supply us with information in this connection.

Don't forget that all members of the Auto-go-to-it Club are invited to attend the "bully good time" at the Country Club Friday night on the invitation of Ernest C. Davis. Marston's music. Come and have a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Fuller arrived on the morning steamer from a month's visit in New York and Boston.

Capt. Walter G. Tibbetts of Alameda, Calif., is making a week's visit with his brother, William F. Tibbetts, before going to Bowdoin commencement, which will mark the graduation of his son, Jonathan C. Tibbetts. He will meantime have been joined by his wife, who is now visiting in Springfield, Mass. Capt. and Mrs. Tibbetts have recently returned from South America, a tour which was filled with delightful incidents.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa P. St. Clair have returned home from a week's visit with their daughter, Mrs. Eugene Stoddard, Everett, Mass.

Mrs. Ethel Bapton of West Jonesport, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Homer E. Robinson for the past week, has returned home.

The regular meeting of the directors of the Country Club was held Tuesday night. After an exceptionally fine salmon supper the board was in a mood to outline the general policy for the year. Especial stress will be laid on the social development this year and many improvements are planned with this end in view. The old barn is to be razed at once and its site seeded down. Some sort of a shelter will later be erected.

Frank H. Whitney is disposing of the Chautauqua tickets this year.

In spite of an extremely rainy night there was a good crowd at Oakland to enjoy the Knickerbocker Orchestra Tuesday. The singing of Art Spaulding alone was well worth the price of admission and the good impression created by the musicians assures a crowd for next Tuesday night when they play at Oakland again.

Good Luck Rebekah Lodge will be the guest of Miriam Rebekah Lodge and will confer the degree Saturday evening. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Harry F. Smith, Warren street, has quite a patch of clover in her yard, bearing four, five, six and even seven leaves, although there seems to be more of the five and six than of the other numbers. If there is anything in the saying that good luck follows the picking of four leaved clovers, what it is to be found five, six and seven. We surely hope that she may have plenty of good luck.

A weekend fishing trip that reached the ideal was enjoyed by H. N. McDougal, B. B. Smith, C. H. Duff and J. F. Burgess. The party left Saturday afternoon and proceeded some 200 miles, past Greenville, over the Great Northern Paper Co's fine private roads to a point within five miles of Lake Soudanahauk. The party fished to the camp and enjoyed fishing which netted a string of 35 fine trout. The return trip was made Monday. Despite much game (deer, partridge, fox and rabbits) was seen and a view obtained of the great fire then raging beyond Lily Bay on a 15 mile front with over 300 men combating it. The route is through the most beautiful section of Maine and is highly recommended by the party.

M. E. Wotton is on deck again after a hard fought battle with lumbago.

All the thrills and shivers of a first open air camping trip were enjoyed by W. C. Ladd and Fred L. Linekin when they took their families on a motor camping trip through northern Maine last weekend. Mysterious lights, the curious jack rabbits and solitaries, night-prowling game wardens added to the tang of the open road and the fragrant woods.

A. D. Morey, who has been at his Castine home the past few weeks, has rejoined his family in this city.

While Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sargent were in Bangor last week at the Shriner's ceremonial Mrs. Sargent received an urgent message to the effect that her sister was critically ill in Ashland. Mr. and Mrs. Sargent left immediately for that distant point, driving all night over roads that in some places presented considerable risk for motoring. They felt rewarded, however, by learning that Mrs. Sargent's sister was much improved. Before they started for home she was pronounced out of danger. The round trip covered 500 miles.

Miss Mildred Hall was home from Gorham Normal School for the weekend, and had as her guest Miss Hazel McGowan of Island Falls, who is also a student at the normal school.

Fred J. Harvey, who has been playing with a stock company in Lowell, Mass. during the winter is spending the month of June with his family in this city. After the Fourth of July he expects to join a stock company in Portland. Mr. Harvey notes with approval the signs of building activity around the city. He has always had faith in Rockland.

N. C. Crockett and family are occupying their cottage at Ingraham Hill for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Augustus Merrill of Portland are spending a portion of their vacation in this city, where Mr. Merrill was formerly editor of the Messenger. He has been on the staff of the Press Herald since leaving here, and "covered" Legislature at the last session.

The bustle frock, as it is called when the drapery or trimming detail is placed at the back, becomes increasingly prominent in the season's fashion development. After all, it is very simple to hitch the skirt up a bit at the back, and what is easier than to tie the sash there, and to forget all about the Grecian side drapery and the Egyptian front fullness? Drapery has followed a rather interesting evolution. It has proceeded from the left side to both sides; then to the front, and now to the back. None of these drapery positions is really out of the mode. All are visible in the current fashions. The apron has given the front draping a new lease on life and it is a toss-up between apron and bustle which one will win. The apron that ties on with a bow in the back, shares in both movements. An assured position is conceded to the silk wrap or coat, now more important than earlier because more seasonable. The first crepe wraps were collared with fur, and fur continues to be fashionable, although a later development is for self-trimming on collars and cuffs, or no trimming at all where the coat itself is all-over embroidered. Of course the embroidery is a very substantial form of trimming, and the all-over effects are gaining in importance. Dull or antique gold embroidery on a slim, straight line, black crepe coat, is very elegant. Black seems to be very generally used for crepe coats. Occasionally brown is seen and gray has been made up in samples. Gray is beautiful, but certainly is not practical for everyday wear.

Charles D. Sherer is home for the summer vacation from University of Maine.

E. P. Cooper, captain of the yacht Marietta, was home from Hull, Mass., the first of the week.

SILAS MARNER

Adapted from George Elliot's famous novel.

He found her as a babe on his doorstep. He had dressed, loved and taught her as a tot. He had made painful sacrifices for her and saw her bloom into radiant maidenhood. And now came the childless couple to claim her as their own. A climax that strikes with the dramatic intensity of a thunderbolt.

CRIGUI IS CHAMPION

World War Hero Wrestles Crown From Johnny Kilbane, American Holder For Eleven Years

Eugene Criqui, ex-poli, who came back to the ring after his jaw had stopped a German bullet at Verdun seven years ago, rose to the greatest height of his pugilistic career Saturday when he knocked out Johnny Kilbane, veteran American holder of the world's featherweight crown, in the sixth round of an international battle before a crowd estimated at 25,000 in the Polo Grounds, New York.

It was a battle between master ringmen, veterans of two continents, but in the end Criqui's greater stamina and punching ability carried him to triumph. Kilbane, who had held the world title for 11 years had a shade the best of the defensive fighting, but at critical moments he was unable to stem the tide of Criqui's cyclone attack.

The return of "Way Down East" to Park Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, and at regular prices, is glad news to those who missed this wonderful picture when it was here several years ago, and to many who want to see it a second time.

Over 55 million packages of this new kind of soap were used last year

For every washday method
soaking—boiling—in washing machines

Already used literally by millions of women. And yet it was only three years ago that it was first brought out.

You wonder what is the secret of this remarkable growth. For just consider what a tremendous force of habit Rinso had to meet. It had to gain the confidence of women trained for generations to the long-drawn-out methods of a bar soap washday.

Mothers, grandmothers and great-grandmothers had rubbed and scrubbed to get clothes clean—rubbing soap on all the soiled places and then rubbing the heavy wet clothes on the washboard.

Is it any wonder then that when Rinso came into women's lives it swept everything before it? For Rinso spares you the hardest part of that age-old drudgery of washday—the constant backbreaking rubbing. That is why millions of packages of it are used every month.

Soaking takes the place of rubbing

Just soaking with this new kind of soap gently loosens all the dirt. Harmful rubbing is done away with.

You are not only saved from weary, back-aching work but also your clothes are protected from the wear and tear of hard rubbing. Rinso dissolves instantly and sends its soapy suds through every thread and fibre, flushing out all the dirt. Only spots where someone has actually ground in the dirt—neck bands, cuff edges and the like—will need a light rubbing with a little dry Rinso.

Has already taken place of bar soap

You will find that Rinso is ideal for any wash-day method you use. You do not have to change any of your usual steps—just use Rinso where you used to use bar soap.

If you like to boil your white cottons Rinso will give just the safe cleansing suds you need in the boiler. If you use a washing machine follow the advice of the big washing machine men—use Rinso.

Rinso takes the place of bar soap for all these different washday methods. It does the whole job.

As wonderful for the family wash as Lux is for fine things

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux to be just as remarkable for the regular weekly wash as Lux is for silks, woolens and all fine fabrics. With these two soaps—Lux and Rinso—the worst of your laundry problems are solved—you need never again do any hard rubbing.

However you do your wash, make it easy by using Rinso. Get it at any grocery or department store. It comes in two sizes—the regular size and the big new package. Made by the largest soapmakers in the world. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Follow the advice of leading washing machine manufacturers

—use this new kind of soap in your machine

Apex, Bluebird, Coffield, Gainaday, Getz, Haag, Horton, Laun-Dry-Ette, Meadows, "1900" Cataract, One Minute, Rotarex, Sunnysuds, Surf, Trojan, Voss, recommend Rinso for best results.

COFFIELD WRITES:

"Tried out over a period equivalent to seven years' weekly use, Rinso did not corrode or injure the machine in any way. It can be used with absolute safety. Garments were not weakened by prolonged washings with Rinso."

GAINADAY SAYS:

"Rinso suds stand up permanently. They penetrate the water so that every garment is saturated with Rinso solution."

LAUN-DRY-ETTE WRITES:

"We found no little soapy particles floating around in the water in our tests with Rinso as we did with some of the other soaps. Twelve minutes was the average operating period with Rinso and not a single article had to be hand rubbed."

"1900" CATARACT SAYS:

"In solution it permeates the water so evenly that its cleansing action reaches every garment. Consequently we found that we were not obliged to do any rubbing either before or after operating the machine."

ROTAREX SAYS:

"We have tried out Rinso and other soaps—many of them good—in our machine, but for all 'round satisfaction we recommend Rinso."

You don't need to bother with bar-soap any more.

ADAMS WANTS TO KNOW

Just Where the Democratic Party Stands On The League of Nations.

Reviewing various statements with reference to the League of Nations by prominent Democrats Chairman Adams of the Republican national committee, in a statement issued Monday, called upon Chairman Hull of the Democratic national committee to "set forth accurately and positively" his organization's position on the question.

"The chairman of the Democratic national committee," said Mr. Adams, "has been expressing great solicitude regarding the attitude of the Republican party organization toward the League of Nations."

"Where does the Democratic organization line up in the League of Nations fight? Does it hold to the view of former President Wilson, or has it been converted, to the viewpoint of Senator James Reed of Missouri?"

The Republican chairman's statement asserted that former Governor Cox of Ohio, Democratic candidate for president in 1920, was "muzzled" by a meeting at Democratic national headquarters after he had announced his intention, upon returning from Europe, to tour the country in behalf of United States membership in the League.

It also cited an interview in which Senator Walsh of Massachusetts was quoted as declaring himself "unalterably opposed to such a course," and called attention to the opposition of Senator Shields of Tennessee, to the League.

Ruth Mayhew Tent, Daughters of Veterans, gave the obligation to ten new members at the meeting last Monday night.

Gov. Baxter in a brief address said the question of the proposed 48-hour week for women and children was not an executive question, nor a legislative question, but one initiated by the people, and going back to the people for their decision. "We all will abide cheerfully by the result when the vote is counted in September," he said.

PORK LEADS ALL OTHERS

Most Popular Meat Food Consumed by American People—Beef Next

Pork and lard are two of the largest items in the food supply of the American people. The average annual per capita consumption for the last five years was 67.3 pounds of pork and 12.5 pounds of lard, as compared with 60.9 pounds of beef. In several recent years the consumption of pork alone has exceeded that of all other meats combined.

A study of the hog production industry included in the 1922 yearbook of the Department of Agriculture shows that among the farm animals hogs are exceeded in numbers only by cattle, and in value only by cattle and horses. They are produced on three-fourths of the farms of the country and represent over ten per cent. of the value of the nation's agricultural production.

Nearly two-thirds of the commercial production of pork is in the corn belt. The amount of corn marketed in the form of hogs varies annually from 30 to 40 per cent. of the entire crop. Pork exports represent about 20 per cent. of the country's agricultural exports, and have held a higher place in foreign trade ever since colonial days. In 1790, the first year for which data are available there was exported approximately 6,000,000 pounds of pork and pork products.

Only 3.5 per cent. of the hogs on American farms are registered pure bred, and about three-fourths of the lot are raised for the market.

Cholera is still the most important disease among hogs and takes the highest toll. In 1922 more than 2,700,000 hogs died of the disease, causing a financial loss of approximately $25,000,000.

A MONTVILLE THRILLER

Orris Choate Saves His Life by Submerging in Brook During a Forest Fire

A forest fire started on the lumber operation of J. J. Clements in Center Montville during the noon hour Saturday on the land of C. B. Ring. A high wind was blowing and it required many men and determined work to stay it. About 100 acres were burned over. At one time the buildings of R. E. Howe were in danger but help summoned by telephone saved them.

Among the many who were wading down the ground from the Nickerson brook was Orris Choate. Before he realized his danger he was completely surrounded by fire. His hat caught, and he threw it off. His shirt commenced to burn briskly and that went into the discard, and he barely escaped with his life by lying in the brook with only his mouth and nose above water.

When he came out of the timber and joined the crowd that had assembled from far and near, by Mr. Howe's buildings, he allowed if Hell was any hotter than the place he just came from he should surely head the other way. Rabbits by the hundreds ran by the throng; sometimes six in a bunch. The fire ran through standing timber belonging to J. J. Clement, R. E. Howe, F. E. Allen, and Elmer F. Palmer.

LABOR CONVENTION

Maine Branch, A. F. of L. Favors Old Age Pensions.—Welcomes Intelligent Emigrants.

Resolutions with reference to immigration were adopted Wednesday at the annual convention of the Maine branch of the American Federation of Labor in August.

"While the federation does not favor the bringing to our shores of the hordes from southern Europe," they declared, "it does gladly extend the hand of welcome to the stalwart and intelligent immigrants from the north of Europe because of their easy assimilation of American ideals and their staunch support of the principles of our government."

The resolutions stated that the federation is not in sympathy with the group which wishes to admit hordes of uneducated and unskilled laborers to be exploited by the great employers of labor and brought thus to form the lever to increase hours of labor.

The convention passed a resolution granting a pension to indigent persons over 60 years of age and advocating the installation of fire sprinkler systems in all localities where there are water systems.

Gov. Baxter in a brief address said the question of the proposed 48-hour week for women and children was not an executive question, nor a legislative question, but one initiated by the people, and going back to the people for their decision. "We all will abide cheerfully by the result when the vote is counted in September," he said.

PURPLE CLEMATIS

Frank H. Ingraham Desires Further Information About This Rare Flower.

Rockland, June 5.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:

I would like to learn, through your columns, or by hearing directly from those who may read this communication, whether or not any of your readers know of any places in the county where the Purple Clematis, or Purple Virgin's Bower grows wild. I had never seen any specimens of the flower until Mrs. Ingraham gathered some, with other wild flowers that she had picked, and endeavored to determine what it was by the Flower Guide. I decided that it must be the Purple Clematis, or Purple Virgin's Bower, described in the book as follows:

Purple Virgin's Bower; Purple Clematis

(Clematis verticillaris) (Crownfoot) Flowers.—Purplish-blue, about 3 in. across; made up of 4 thin, large translucent sepals; petals very small; stamens long and numerous.

Leaves.—Opposite, compounded of 3-pointed oval leaflets with the basal end somewhat heart-shaped.

Range.—Southern Canada south to Virginia and west to Minn., flowering in May and June in rocky woodland.

This species is nowhere very common and in most localities may be regarded as very rare. It is the most showy-flowered of the clematis family, the translucent petals of the cup-shaped flower being handsomely veined. Like the white virgin's bower, it is a climbing or trailing vine feeling its way over rocks or bushes. A southern purple species called the Leather Flower (C. Viorna) has bell-shaped, leathery, purple flowers measuring at the most two inches across. This species is not uncommon from Pa. south to the Gulf. The Marsh Clematis (C. crispa) which is also found in the Southern States has a bell-shaped flower but the sepals are thin and recurved.

It appearing from what I have quoted above that the flower is somewhat rare, I communicated with Frank Lufkin of Glenview through C. Clifton Lufkin, by telephone, and he thought, from my description of the flower, that it was undoubtedly the Purple Clematis. I have since shown to Norman N. Lemmond, curator of the Knox Arboretum, some of the specimens gathered and he agreed that the flower is the Purple Clematis. Mr. Lemmond told me that he had vainly sought to obtain a plant for the Knox Arboretum and that he and Jesse A. Tolman had searched, without success, in places where the flower formerly grew, for the same. Mr. Lemmond had been told that the flower had been found near Orono and he planned to go there for the purpose of obtaining a plant for the Knox Arboretum.

Any persons who know where the flower is found, in this vicinity, should take care to see that the same is properly protected and preserved, so that it may not be entirely destroyed. Persons gathering wild flowers should always be careful not to destroy the plant, or vines, when gathering the flower. Doubtless, my former school teacher, Mrs. Adella F. Veazie, has gathered these flowers in the past and probably knows where they can be found now, if any plants remain.

Frank H. Ingraham.

MAY WEATHER REPORT

There was a wide divergence of temperature last month according to the official records kept by "J. E. C." for the Camden Herald. The hottest day was the 25th, when the mercury registered 86, and the coldest was three days later when the temperature fell to 42. The mean daily temperature was 53.7. There were 17 clear and 14 cloudy, or partly cloudy days. Rain fell on 12 days, the total precipitation being 2.56 inches. The highest barometer reading was 30.14, on the 23d, and the lowest was 29.56 on the 10th.

SEND FOR NORMAN!

Camden Postoffice Has a Bug Mystery Which the Curator May Solve.

One day the past week the assistant postmaster saw lying on the money order desk a bright object that he at first took to be the head of a small scurf pin. As he looked, however, it started toward him and he thought for a moment that he "had 'em." It proved to be a beautiful bug, about the shape of a potato bug, but smaller. On its sides were handsome gold designs, and it presented especially under a glass, a brilliant appearance. He turned it on its back, but it pushed itself on to its head, turned a complete somersault and came back on its several little legs again.

Where it came from and how it got there was a mystery. It was captured and put into a little tin box. The next day it was taken out, looking as brilliant as ever but when turned upon its back it seemed to have difficulty in negotiating its characteristic somersault and after laboring somewhat without getting over, out came a pair of gold marked wings to help it turn. It did not seem to have any wings when first seen, and they accounted for its presence on the desk. What was it? Perhaps some accomplished bugologist can give its pedigree and family connections.—Camden Herald.

KNOX ARBORETUM

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Starbird, Mrs. Willis B. Moulton and Miss Brown of Portland were visitors at the Arboretum Sunday, driving through in their car, fringing lunch and spending several hours looking over the grounds. Mrs. Moulton is an expert botanist and Miss Brown is interested in birds. Rockland, Thomaston and Warren parties were also visitors at the Arboretum Sunday.

Carl W. Chaples A. S. M. Troop 4, B. S. of America, of Rockland, captured a very pretty bright red salamander (had it been in a fire?) at Glen Cove, May 30, and very thoughtfully sent it to Curator Lemmond for the Knox Arboretum collection of Batrachians.

Spirea arguta multiflora, the most graceful and delicate of the spiraeas, and apparently the first to bloom, is now in all its glory of pure white. Malus arnoldiana (the Arnold arboretum flowering apple tree), has a few bunches of blossoms—the first to appear, since the tree was set out two years ago.

The French hued lilacs, bush honeysuckles, rhododendrons and azaleas are in full bud and will doubtless be in full bloom by next Sunday, June 10. The showy, yellow, pink and pure white lady's slippers are sending up vigorous stalks and some have nearly full grown flowers. These are to be looked at but under no consideration picked. We want the people of Knox county to assist us in every way to make this place a real bird and wild flower "sanctuary."

N. W. Lemmond, Director.

WILLARD AND FIRPO

The proposed bout between Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion, and Luis Angel Firpo of South America, will be held at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, July 12. Because many fans desire to go to Shelby, Mont., to see the title bout between Champion Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons of St. Paul, July 4, the change was made from July 7.

What Uncle Sam Has Done For His People—A Generous Landlord.

No other government on earth at any time in history has done as much for its citizens as has the United States and no better illustration of the absolute truth of this sweeping statement can be found than in the way this country has virtually given its public domain as homes for its people through the General Land Office of the Department of the Interior.

The story is impressive in its details. Back in the year 1803, the United States began acquiring territory additional to that ceded by the thirteen original states, most of which became public lands. There was the Louisiana Purchase including the entire western drainage basin of the Mississippi River. There was the territory of Oregon embracing the present states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, acquired by exploration and occupation in 1846, and the states of California, Nevada, Utah, and parts of Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico ceded to this country at the close of the war with Mexico in 1848. Next came the purchase of lands from Texas now included in the states of Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico, in 1850, followed by another purchase from Mexico of the territory covered by New Mexico and Arizona to settle a boundary dispute. And, finally, the territory of Alaska with its great and far reaching stretches of unsurveyed northern tracts, in 1867.

The sum total of these tremendous expanses of land has never been actually estimated. It runs into approximately a billion and a half of acres and from the very first the American government has proceeded as fast as it could be surveyed to distribute it to its citizens, chiefly for home building purposes, for the payment of an insignificant sum ranging from $1 to $4 per acre. No other nation in the history of the world has ever attempted or successfully carried out such a wholesale donation. No public service has ever been performed by this government to equal its public land service.

At first the public domain was presented to soldiers of the Revolutionary War in the form of bounties and this policy has continued with every successive foreign conflict. The Treasury Department in the early history of the Republic handled the public domain and its distribution to the people. Then the War Department took over the task of supervising the granting of lands to soldiers. In 1812 the General Land Office was organized but remained under the jurisdiction of the Treasury Department. Huge increases in public lands through purchases and acquisitions of foreign territory made the problem of making surveys and turning the lands over to the people so great that it was transferred to the newly organized Interior Department in 1849, and the General Land Office has since been a part of its activities.

The total land surface of the public land states is estimated at 1,4

THREE-TIMES-A-WEEK

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Rockland, June 9, 1923.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lodi, who on oath declares that he is president in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of June 7, 1923, there was printed a total of 5,370 copies.
Before me, FRANK S. MILLER,
Notary Public.

THE ROAD TO WANT:—He that oppresseth the poor to increase his riches, and he that giveth to the rich, shall surely come to want.—Proverbs 22:16.

If the armistice had not been signed Nov. 11, 1918, and the Allies had carried out their intention of marching to Berlin, there would probably have been seen in action some engines of warfare much more terrible and destructive than those which were used. For instance, the giant 40-ton tanks which were developed in this country too late to have a share in the actual fighting. "Uncle Sam's herd of mechanical elephants," as the Associated Press graphically described them, were given a demonstration at the army tank school, Camp Mead, Wednesday, and their enormous power was shown when the "land battleships" cut huge swaths through heavy woods. At times each tank was knocking over half a dozen trees simultaneously, literally rooting them from the earth, and lumbering forward over prostrate trunks a foot or more in diameter. If the last war surpassed belief that he said of the one to come—for the prophets tell us that there is one to come.

Congressman Wallace H. White, Jr. is now at his Lewiston home and after a relaxation from the whirl of Congressional Washington will probably take a run through the Second District and renew association with his constituents, who are always glad to greet him. Mr. White, who is a member of the House committee on merchant marine, will be one of the guests on the coming trial cruise of the rejuvenated Leviathan—a part of which, by the way, would naturally take place on the Rockland course, but fear of fogs, which sometimes unexpectedly develop themselves here, cause the shipping board to send the huge craft in another direction—probably to Guantanamo, the only fit deep-water region to compare with the Rockland course.

Georges Barbot, the Frenchman, who left Garden City, Long Island, Wednesday, with the intention of making a flight to Washington in his "Flying Fliver," got only as far as Paulsboro, N. J. when his tiny machine got between his control and was partly wrecked in a tree-top. Monsieur Barbot may derive some satisfaction that he got farther with his invention than Darius Green did, but there was no save for his wounded feelings when he found next day that irrepressible souvenir hunters had practically demolished his machine and carried away the remnants.

Only a little more than half a year will now elapse before the State primaries and State conventions will be beginning choosing delegates to the National political conventions. Preliminary organization work for the 1924 Republican campaign will be started during the next few weeks in a series of regional conferences between chairman Adams and national committeemen and state chairmen to be held at various points throughout the country. The first is set for next Tuesday in Boston and is to be attended by party leaders of the six New England states.

The "drys" found cause for satisfaction Wednesday when the Connecticut House of Representatives referred to the next General Assembly the petition calling for the repeal of the laws concerning the enforcement of prohibition. The "wets" had their innings the next day when the Wisconsin assembly voted to repeal the State prohibition enforcement statute. The result in Wisconsin was not unexpected, but the "wets" had a very small margin, the vote being 47 to 43.

The latest guess as to the political situation in Penobscot county is that neither of the Republican candidates for the gubernatorial nomination will retire and that the primaries may again be resorted to in order to decide which shall quit the field. Qualifying for the governorship race seems to be the most popular indoor sport up Bangor way, but the old adage "safety in numbers" does not seem to work out just right.

A Thomaston correspondent writes: "Perhaps our naturalist can tell us if grackles' teeth are as scarce as hens' are. A pair of grackles take crusts of bread which my cook throws out for them, then carry them to the birds' bath and soak them before they eat them." The Courier-Gazette would be glad to learn of any facts in this connection.

Is the campaign of the Maine Health Department justified? Read your answer in the government statistics which say that Maine's death rate last year was the highest of the 33 states which made returns. This is pretty serious but coupled with it is the unpleasant fact that while the death rate was increasing the birth rate was decreasing.

Rockland homes in which the furnace fire has not been rebuilt are today cold and gloomy resorts.

"German note fails to meet allies' terms." Of course.

BIG THOMASTON JOB

Telephone Company to Spend $9000 on Main Street Improvements There.

With the expenditure of approximately $9000 in new construction on Main street, Thomaston, to begin some time in the fall, as soon as the cable man can be secured from the plant of the Western Electric Company at Chicago, the New England Tel. & Tel. Co. is planning to materially extend and improve its plant there.

The new cable will be placed in position leading east and west from the central office; toward the east as far as the beginning of the New County road and to the west a little beyond the Maine State Prison. While the new work will be all on Main street, the general plan of distribution will be changed so that the present congestion of telephone wire cable facilities on several of the streets leading off Main street will be relieved and will enable the company to furnish the higher grades of service to some of its patrons on those streets.

When the proposed work is completed the outside plant of the company will be modern. One of the incidental improvements will be the removal of a large amount of open wire construction on Gleason street which now carries the circuits between Thomaston and Rockland. These will all be brought into the office through the new cable.

780 STUDEBAKERS

Made Up the Banner Day Output of This Great Corporation.

When the whistles of the mammoth Studebaker plants at South Bend and Detroit sounded on the evening of May 29 and 29,000 Studebaker employees started homeward, a new record for a single day's production and shipments had been made, for on that day 780 Studebaker cars were forwarded to Studebaker dealers throughout the country. Of the total, 189 were driven overseas.

This record represents a single day's production and was achieved without permitting cars to accumulate purposefully to establish a new mark. The only extra incentive involved was an effort to more adequately meet the insistent demand from every section of the country for more Studebakers, but this is a daily endeavor because of the thousands of unfilled orders on hand for immediate shipment.

While the production of 780 cars in one day establishes a record for Studebaker, the total is only a little above regular daily shipments since the additional facilities provided by seven new Studebaker factory units completed and toiled and manned early this spring, reached capacity production. Although Studebakers present output is 15,000 cars a month or at the rate of 180,000 cars annually, the demand is far in excess of production and additional factory facilities, begun this spring and to cost $5,000,000, are being rushed to completion.

Studebaker manufactures six-cylinder cars exclusively, in three models—the Big-Six, Special-Six and the Light-Six—which are offered in twelve body types. 780 cars, in one day, therefore, represents the biggest day's shipment of six-cylinder cars ever made by any manufacturer.

The increasing popularity of Studebaker cars, which is a subject of common conversation even outside of the automobile industry, is attested by the yearly record of production and sales. In 1918 Studebaker sold 23,864 cars. The following year sales increased to a total of 39,356 cars. In 1920 sales mounted to 51,474 cars.

1921, the year of general business depression, was the biggest in Studebaker's history (up to 1922) when sales reached a total of 66,642 cars. Stated otherwise, the sales of Studebaker cars in 1921 were 29 per cent greater than in 1920, notwithstanding the fact that the total number of cars sold of other makes, except Ford, was 40 per cent less than 1920. Studebaker again established a new record in 1922 with the sale of 110,269 cars. This year will see still another Studebaker record established. Up to July 1 Studebaker will have produced and sold about 50,000 cars, or an increase of 50 per cent over the same period of 1922.

"There are a number of reasons for the universal popularity of Studebaker cars," according to the Rockland Garage Co., local Studebaker dealer. But chief:

(1) Because of their quality, durability and dependable performance in owners' use.

(2) Because by manufacturing sixes exclusively on a large scale and by building all vital parts in its own plants, Studebaker can effect economies and save the middlemen's profits, and thereby provide maximum value and quality at a low price.

(3) Because, in the three models of Studebaker cars we have a car of the exact size, style and price to suit every buyer.

(4) Because with $85,000,000 of actual net assets, including $45,000,000 of plant facilities, Studebaker stands unsurpassed in ability and resources to manufacture economically and give the greatest intrinsic value possible for a given price.

(5) Because of the name Studebaker, which for 71 years, has stood for high grade transportation, integrity, quality, value and comfort."

LUBRICATION EXPERT

Will Speak In Rockland On Subject of Interest To Auto and Garage Owners.

The people of Rockland next Tuesday evening at 8.15 p. m., at the Universalist church, will have the opportunity of hearing one of America's foremost engineers in the lubrication field of the automobile industry. The Chamber of Commerce has been fortunate in being able to procure for this evening I. F. Richardson who is an engineer of repute, and one who can give especially to the automobile dealers, inside facts on the proper lubrication for the cars which they own or desire information on. Mr. Richardson is a practical as well as a scientific engineer, and in connection with his talk will show stereopticon views as to just what certain oils will do to that delicate piece of machinery on which everybody depends today to keep up with the times, namely the automobile. Here is your opportunity. Mr. Richardson, Owner, to learn the inside facts about proper lubrication for that car of yours. This lecture is free and every automobile owner should avail himself of this opportunity of hearing Mr. Richardson, who is touring the country speaking to large audiences. Garage proprietors and owners of trucks should especially be interested in this subject as they are invariably the ones whom the car owner will invariably turn to for advice, and they should not rely on publications only for their information, but should do their best to learn about this very important subject at first hand and that they may be in a position to give first-class advice to their patrons and fellow men. No one need make any reservations to hear Mr. Richardson as there will be ample room for all. It is expected that at least 100 men will avail themselves of this opportunity.

FRIGID BASEBALL

Electricians Come From Behind and Win From Snows In the Last Inning.

I SAW OBADIAH GARDNER at the Twilight League game Thursday night and like the rest of us he looked happy and chilly. I challenge the State of Maine to produce a more devoted baseball fan, than this sturdy citizen who once tilled the acres of Mt. Bettox Farm and went from that lofty elevation to even higher planes of statesmanship when he was appointed United States Senator, and later American chairman of the International Joint Commission. He managed local baseball in the most prosperous season Rockland ever had, and he has followed major league games so closely that he is one of the best authorities in the country on high calibre baseball. He once bet a red herring on the result of a game. I almost forgot to add that he is a dyed in the wool roller polo fan.—The Sporting Editor.

The Twilight League The past two weeks have been the most trying ones in the history of the organization, for a brace of reasons. First and foremost comes that fickle and perverse critter known as the weather. Those who have shivered on the bleachers and side lines, yet unwilling to abandon their favorite sport, are sometimes led to wonder if this is to be another year without a summer, like 1816. The other handicap has been the difficulty in getting all of the players together, some being temporarily absent from the city and others being unable to play for business and other reasons. Within a very short time the summer recruits will have arrived and these difficulties will have been ironed out, and the race will be even faster than it was last year.

The Electricians, Rockport and the Lime Company have yet to suffer their first defeat, but another week's play might see the tail-enders on top of the heap. The standing:

	Won	Lost	P. C.
Knox Electricians	2	0	1.000
Rockport	1	0	1.000
Lime Company	1	0	1.000
Texacos	0	2	.000
Snows	0	2	.000
Elks	0	0	.000

Next Week's Games

Monday—Rockport vs. Elks.
Tuesday—Lime Company vs. Knox Electricians.

Wednesday—Texacos vs. Snows.
Thursday—Elks vs. Lime Company.

The Friday night games will begin soon. Due notice will appear in this paper.

Electric 6, Snows 3

Substitutes were in evidence on both teams Thursday night, and everybody was prepared for rather a loose game. Quite the contrary it was about the best contest that the Twilight League has offered thus far. Charlie Harding was in the box for the Snows, and while he had not pitched a game this season he proved that he had not forgotten the art, when he held the Electricians to a solitary hit for five innings. Then the pace began to tell on him, and in the 6th the rally men, hitting almost at will, piled up five runs, some of which were made in semi-darkness. Kallcho did a very satisfactory turn for the Electricians.

Mealey did some star work in central garden catching five difficult flies in as many innings. When that lad succeeds in getting his batting eye properly focused he is going to be one of the first stars in the league. A snappy double by O. Record, Averill and Frank Stewart, and a fine assist by Beaudoin were among the features of a game well worth watching. The score:
